

The AGB Appliance

Solving business problems without creating technology problems

Why an AGB Appliance?

Our customers are looking for solutions to their business problems; solutions that are easy to implement and solutions that do not require a large investment in technology hardware and the resources required to support the technology. To meet our customers' needs, we have developed the AGB Appliance. The AGB Appliance is a stand-alone turnkey solution that incorporates both the hardware and the software necessary for our customers to leverage the Automated Group Benefits business solution for General Agents in the Employee Benefits industry.

As a turnkey solution, we deliver a fully configured, tested and ready-for-use system that just needs to be plugged into your existing network. The AGB appliance is pre-configured with data protection and security to ensure your data is protected from loss or malicious damage. The built-in tape backup system enables you to safely store your backups in an off-site location for additional security and protection.

Benefits of the AGB Appliance

- ◆ Pre-installed and tested software
- ◆ Works within your existing network infrastructure
- ◆ Provides website for broker access to AGB
- ◆ Requires no dedicated technical support staff

Support for your AGB Appliance can be provided remotely via the built-in remote access controller, allowing server problems to be diagnosed remotely while you focus on your business.

The AGB appliance includes all hardware, software and licenses required for a customer to run Automated Group Benefits for all employees and brokers.
